

Freelance Fundraiser

From its base near Newcastle upon Tyne, Monster Productions has rapidly established itself as one of the country's leading producers of musical theatre for the very young. Monster Productions is a revenue-funded client of Arts Council England. Our reputation is excellent and the great feedback we receive about our work is well documented.

We now seek a dedicated: FUNDRAISER

This is a new post that requires an outward looking person who, working in alliance with current staff and our board, can identify funding opportunities and assist in continuing our strong future development.

Fee: £5,000 + 5% of all moneys raised above £10,000 and subject to £10,000 being the minimum amount raised.

Hours: as required. You will be responsible to Ieuan Einion, the company's Chief Executive.

Contract: 12 months in the first instance, with an expectation of extension

There is one specific and immediate task.

To raise IRO £50,000 - £60,000 for our new piece for 0-3 year olds in our StoryHouse series. Our first StoryHouse project, "Sad Socks, Happy Socks" was funded by the Northern Rock Foundation and the Ashden Trust and cost around £85,000 - £90,000. A full report of the project can be found on our website: - http://www.monsterproductions.co.uk/pdfs/StoryHouse\_Report.pdf

We are a company with an international perspective. Some knowledge of European funding would be a distinct advantage.

In the medium term we are also seeking to expand our revenue base so that we are able to employ a dedicated education/participation worker and convert our CEO's post from part-time to full time.

In the long term we are seeking a fundraiser who has the confidence to embark on creating a £5million endowment fund to secure the future of the company in perpetuity.

You should be able to provide the name of three referees for whom you have successfully raised funds as well as a detailed CV.
